

Longford company acquired by Galway-based C&L Industries

C & L Industries Ltd, a specialist in the supply of industrial compressed air solutions based in Galway, has announced the acquisition of RW Harris & Co Ltd, Longford.

This acquisition allows C & L Industrial, which has a nationwide network of distributor sales and service centres, to develop its operation in a burgeoning commercial region.

Established in 1982, RW Harris & Co Ltd specialises in the sale and service of industrial compressed air equipment and high pressure cleaners. Over the past 24 years, Proprietor, Bert Harris has developed a successful sales and service business within the local region.

Colum Whelan, Managing Director of C & L Industrial, a long-term key supplier to RW Harris said, "we are delighted to be expanding our business operations into a growing commercial region such as Longford. RW Harris boasts over two decades of local industry knowledge and expertise. Building on these strengths will allow us to grow and develop the C & L nationwide sales and service capabilities."

"Bert Harris will continue to guide the Longford business for C & L. So, for our newly acquired customers, except for a name change, it will be business as usual," he added.

C & L Industrial specialises in the sale, installation and service of a range of specialist industrial products and provide a backup through a Nationwide Network of distributor sales and service centres.

Colum Whelan (left), the Managing Director of C&L Industrial, is pictured with Longford Bert Harris of RW Harris & Co, Longford